1. WHAT'S NEW? LUNCH & LEARN 2019 WEBINAR #5

Do Lawyers Have an Ethical Obligation to Defend the Unpopular?

Date: Tuesday, April 23, 2019 T
Time: 12:00 noon to 1:40 pm
Location: Quinte Courthouse 2nd floor

Details: At what point should the lawyer's own moral compass be involved in the decision to take on a client or cause?

In a growing age of unease, this program is designed to allow lawyers to reflect and offer new insights on how they see themselves and their work. The panel of practitioners and experts will discuss the following considerations that are important for every lawyer (barrister and/or solicitor):

- The competing obligations between one's professionalism and personal identity;
- The fact that the lawyer will not be liked by everyone, or may even make enemies when taking on certain causes or clients;
- The need to find something human in a client with whom you have nothing in common (or may even find reprehensible);
- Public and media scrutiny when taking on an unpopular cause or client.
